It's a FACT!

Gail Etienne, Tessie Prevost, and Leona Tate went to McDonogh School.

A New School

Ruby started first grade at her old school. But on November 14, 1960, Ruby was sent to William Frantz Public School. It was a school for white children. The other girls were sent to McDonogh School. Ruby's

Protests and Marshals

People were angry. They stood outside the schools to protest integration. Some people called Ruby names. They threatened to hurt her and other African American people. Four policemen called marshals walked Ruby to school. The marshals were strong. They had guns. But Ruby was still afraid and all alone.

Dear Educators, Librarians, and Parents ... Welcome to State Standards Publishing ...

Where you'll find the books you need to meet standards-aligned content requirements for state studies and reading development!

Our My State books introduce young readers to key aspects of state history studies. And, our America, My Country imprint helps students explore standards-based topics beyond state boundaries. Each book is filled with photographs, illustrations, captions, and other design elements to enhance text comprehension. Glossary and Word Index sections introduce key new words and help young readers locate and combine information – and develop reading skills – with leveled informational text.

We wish you all success in using our My State and America, My Country books to meet your student or child's learning needs!
